

Contents

Preface to the First and Second Editions.	xi
Preface to the Third Edition	xiii
Preface to the Millennium Fourth Edition	xv
Preface to the Platinum Fifth Edition	xix
Acknowledgments.	xxiii

Part I: Getting Started

Why Has This Book Been Written?	3
The History of This Book	6
Have Confidence—You Can Do It: An Historical Perspective	8
Should You Start Your Own Practice? (You Can Do It)	10
Am I Competent to Give Legal Advice?	16
Should You Work on a Job “for Experience” Before Starting Your Practice?	17
Being a Contract Lawyer to Get Experience and Money While Building Your Practice.	19
Earning a Living Between Graduation and Opening Your Practice	25
Should You Start with Another New Lawyer?	35
Practicing with Your Spouse	38
Should You Practice Another Business or Profession While Starting Your Law Practice?	39
Should You “Specialize”?	43
Naming Your Law Firm	45
Sole Practice v. Partnership v. Shared Office	47
The Written “Business Plan”	49
Managing Your Student Loan	54

Part II: Getting Located

Where Is the Best Place to Open Your Office?
(From a Client-Getting Point of View) 61

Where Should You Locate Your Office for Your First Year or Two? (From a Cost Point of View) 65

Should You Trade “Space for Services”? 68

How Do You Get the Best Space Arrangement? 71

Practicing in a Law Suite. 74

Practicing from Your Home 79

Virtual Law Offices. 85

Part III: Getting Equipped

How Much Cash Do You Need to Start Your Practice? 89

How to Get a Rich Relative or Friend to Finance
Your Start-up Costs by Offering Tax Advantages 92

Checklists of Needs for New Law Office 94

Office Supplies and Procedures 99

Personal Computers, Word Processing, and Office Technology 108

Should You Do Your Own Word Processing? 131

Should Your Office Furnishings Be Lavish? 134

Announcements, Stationery and Professional Cards,
Christmas Cards, and “Mailing Lists” 137

Part IV: Getting Clients

How to Handle Friends and Relatives 147

How to Market Your Services 150

Cost-Effective Media Advertising. 152

The Internet and Your E-Mail Addresses 159

Your Web Site(s). 160

The Importance of Accepting and Promptly Returning
Telephone Calls. 161

Managing Written Communication 165

Can You Get Clients from Organizations? 175

Cold Calling to Get Clients 176

Getting Clients by Using Charities 178

Insurance Claims Adjusters: A Source of Clients. 179

Shmooze Your Vendors 181

How to Accept Personal Injury Cases 183

How to Communicate Settlement Offers to Clients 190

Representing Seniors. 192

Can You Get Clients by Running for Political Office? 203

Getting Paid Work from Lawyer Referral Services 205

Getting Legal Fees and Work from the Government 207

Getting Legal Work and Fees from Other Lawyers 210

Minority and Affirmative Action Work and Money 214

How to Get More Legal Work from Existing Clients by Mining Your Closed Files 217

How to Recognize and Handle Conflicts of Interest 220

How to Keep Clients 228

How to Satisfy a Client 231

How to Lose Clients 233

Cases and Clients That Should Be Turned Down 234

The Prospective Client File 239

How to Say “No” to a Client or Case 241

Accepting Cases With Doubtful Merit 246

Damage Control If You Are Fired 248

Part V: Setting Fees

The Fee and Representation Letter (The Engagement Letter) . . 255

Referral Fees or Division of Fees 261

Engagement Letters, Nonengagement Letters, and Disengagement Letters 262

Balancing the Public’s Need for Legal Services and the New Lawyer’s Need to Eat 267

How to Set Your Fees 269

Making Yourself Affordable Without Lowering Your Fee
 (Alternative Billing Arrangements) 277

Don’t Quote Fees or Give Legal Advice over the Telephone or by E-mail to New Clients 280

“Cash Up Front”—Shelly’s Rule and Foonberg’s Rule 282

Getting Money Up Front from New Clients 283

Cash Fees 285

Client Costs 286

The Importance of Cash Up Front for Survival
 (Also Known as “Foonberg’s Rule”) 288

Getting Paid by Client Credit Card 289

Financing Your Practice with Bank Credit Cards 291

How to Get Cash Up Front to Reduce Bad Debts and Increase Cash Flow and Avoid Going Under 298

How to Word Invoices That Clients Are Happy to Pay 300

The Importance of Monthly Billing	305
Final Billing on Completion of a Matter	307
How to Make Clients Happy to Pay Legal Fees by Selling Them Stationery	310
How to Make Money by Reading Advance Sheets, Technical Journals and E-mail Law Bulletins	313
Typical Client Costs	315
Can You or Should You Pay or Receive “Forwarding Fees” or Referral Fees?	316
“Bedside Manner” in Setting Fees	321
Alternate Dispute Resolution (ADR)	324
When and How to Withdraw from a Nonpaying Matter	326
 Part VI: Managing the Law Office
Management of the Law Office—General Comments	335
Time Management 101—Finding Time and the To-Do Lists . .	336
Organizing Your Day and Your Life to Make More Money by Planning and List-Making.	339
Managing Telephone Communications— Never Let the Sun Set on an Unreturned Call	344
Organizing Your Desk to Make More Money	355
How to Keep Time Records to Make More Money and to Preserve Evidence of Work Done	358
Getting Ready for Your First Clients	363
Typical Court Forms	371
Sample Generic Checklists and Forms	378
Your First Court Appearances	386
How to Interview a Client.	393
What Clients Want: Learn How to Listen to Clients When They Talk (Foonberg’s Rules of Listening)	400
How to Conduct a Meeting (Foonberg’s Ten Rules)	402
Preceptors and Internships.	406
The MacCrate Report.	409
Negotiating Skills	411
How to Maintain Bank Accounts	414
How to Maintain a Trust Account to Avoid Disbarment. . . .	419
Insurance Needs of the New Lawyer	425
Don’t Forget Taxes and Licenses	434
Why You Need a Personnel Manual	436
Bookkeeping and Accounting Systems	440

The Office Cash Flow Survival Budget	444
The Paperless Office vs. The Less Paper Office	448
Paper and Computer Document Management	450
Organizing Your Computer Files	455
Simple Hard-Copy Filing Systems for the New Lawyer	458
Distinguishing Between “Prospective,” “Active,” “Closed” and “Dead” Files	463
Closing and Disposing of Files	465
Destroying Old Files	467
Destroying Old Files When the Client Has Disappeared or You Did Not Follow Proper File-Closing Procedures	470
What to Do With Electronic File Data	472
Fondling the Files	476
How to Build a Good Form File	482
Library Needs and Costs	489
How to Buy Law Books (If You Buy Them at All)	503
Saving Money by Eliminating Postage and Express Delivery Services	505
Squeezing Extra Hours into the Day to Make More Money	508
Timely Delivery of Work	515
Should You Use a Telephone Receptionist, Telephone Exchange, Mechanical Answering Device, Telephone Company Service, or Voice Mail?	517
Why You Should Use Investigators	519
 Part VII: Ethics and Professional Responsibility
Professional Responsibility and Practice Management	523
The Profession of Law Is Not the Business of Law	526
Handling Anti-Lawyer Jokes and Comments	531
Fifty-Two Ways to Win or Avoid the Ethics War	533
What Are the Consequences of “Violating” the Canons of Professional Ethics, the Code of Professional Responsibility, or the Model Rules of Professional Conduct?	561
Ten Rules for Avoiding Disciplinary Complaints	564
Practicing Professional Responsibility	567
A Short History of Our Ethics	569
The ABA Model Code of Professional Responsibility and the ABA Model Rules of Professional Conduct	571
Ten Commandments of Good Trust Accounts	576
What to Call Yourself	582

Dealing with Foreign Lawyers	584
Buying and Building a Law Practice	586
Avoiding Disciplinary Problems	588

Part VIII: Resources and Advice

Where to Go for Help	593
Getting Free Management Help from Your Local Law Practice Management Advisor	595
The Importance of Continuing Education	600
The Wheel Has Been Invented	604
How to Manage and Collect Accounts Receivable	606
Where to Get Cost-Effective Help to Build and Expand Your Practice	613
Foonberg’s Short Course in Good Client Relations	617
The Importance of Doing It Right	624
Checklist for Opening Your First Law Office	626

Part IX: Quality of Life

Quality of Life—Dealing with Difficult People	641
Quality of Life for the New Lawyer Starting a Practice	643
Quality of Life—September 11, 2002	646

Epilogue: Proof That This Book Works	649
Index	651
About the Author	663